Weber-Daiches.

On Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock, Miss Bluma Weber became the bride of Louis Daiches, the ceremony being read by Rabbi David Rosenbaum of Austin, Texas, at the home of the bride. Decorations of the home were unusually artistic. Ferns and roses were held in tall wicker baskets and the improvised altar was formed under a canopy of ferns and white satin where the bridal party stood.

Just before the ceremony Mrs. Louis Morris sang "I Love You Truly."

Miss Esther Weber, maid of honor, wearing a pretty frock of pink organza, was the first of the wedding party to enter to the strains of Mendelssohn's march, played by Mr. and Mrs. Morris Fred on the piano and violin. Next came little Leonard Daiches, nephew of the groom, dressed in white and carrying the ring in a lily. The groom, attended by his mother and brother, Sam Daiches of Corsicana, were followed by little Libby Zeff, daintily gowned in a pink georgette and lace dress, carrying a basket of rose petals which she scattered in the path of the bride, who entered next attended by her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. Weber.

The bride was lovely in her handsome gown of white lace and satin. Her veil was worn with a cap edged with orange blossoms and her bouquet was Ophelia roses and ferns with showers of white satin ribbons. Only the immediate family and intimate friends of the young people were present at the ceremony, the girls of the S. O. F. Club of which Bluma is a member were invited guests. Following the ceremony an informal reception was held. Punch, candies, ice cream and cake were served. The bridal couple left at 10 o'clock for a wedding trip to Colorado. The bride's going away costume was of navy blue tricotine, eton style, with accessories to match. Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. L. Daiches and son, Laredo, Texas; Sam Daiches, Corsicana, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. L. Fred, Gus Fred, Waco; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rude and daughters, Pearl and Fannye, Dallas; and Miss Edna Fried, Chicago, Ill.

ZIONIST WORK AND RELIEF IN THE PRESENT HISTORIC MOMENT.

It Gives Us Pleasure to Commend to the Attention of our Readers the Fine and Clear Thoughts of this Splendid Article, Written by a Member of the Galician Jewish Commission Now in this Country.

By Dr. Joseph Tannenbaum.

Eastern Jewry may be compared to an old dried up fruit, whose juice has been absorbed, and meat consumed. It has come out of the war, starved, sick and wounded. Strangled by brutal force, downtrodden by systematic, bloody persecutions, tortured and murdered by the armies of its own country as well as by the invading forces of the enemy, destroyed by ravaging epidemics, and debilitated by chronic hunger and destitution. Eastern Jewry has lost much of its elastic structure and equilibrium. It can no longer stand on its own feet. The sick brother across the sea must be led by the hand and guided until he will regain enough of his old vigor to be able to walk by himself,—a delicate and gentle hand it must be, for only such can remove the hopelessness which pervades Eastern Jewish life, and bring radiant light into the despairing faces of our unfortunate brethren. Only a lovable, sympathetic, brotherly hand can balm their burning wounds.

With impatience they look westward where they expect their sun to rise. History has made American Jewry the exponent of her eternal life-will, and the future will show whether she has wisely chosen. But, meanwhile, we of the present have it as our duty to ascertain what the moment which bridges the past and the future demands of us. It is our privilege to live in a period which may be called "Gottedermerung," and be the driving water of the wheel of fate.

A new star has risen over the nebulous, black night of the Jewish diaspora to disturb the leaden clouds which spread themselves like a black mantle over our horizon to obscure our future. Eretz Israel is ours. The sick nurses new hopes, and with his last might moves his weary limbs and prepares to leave his dismal prison to seek freedom and a new life in the land of his forefathers. So well suited is the Jewish people to the present moment as if the invisible hand of some great master had been at work. The Jewish people must today wander to Palestine.

The war and its consequences have destroyed the people's equilibrium. It has lost its center of gravity, and hangs suspended between heaven and earth. At present it is in a flowing state which cannot be solidified into a mass, for as soon as there is any semblance of stability, new persecutions, new bloodstorms sweep it away. That is why our whole people is today at the doors to the East prepared for the march, waiting merely for a command to set itself in motion with all that belongs to it. The majority are easily prepared for travel. They have nothing to take along. The war took everything away.

A question arises: Is the land ready to receive so many millions of people?
